The second chapter sets the stage for the camera settings, lenses to use and modifiers she uses. This chapter also includes an explanation of the camera settings AV, TV, P and M. This sets the stage for her explaining why she chooses ONLY the M (manual) mode on her camera to get the best results for her images. This chapter also includes a diagram and explanation of the exposure triangle ndash; exposure time, ISO value and aperture. The chart and explanation is also helpful for long-time photographers to review. The author also covers lighting, using reflectors, flags and other light shapers. Then she explains how to steer the viewers gaze to the image with lighting, image composition and using selective focus. The book includes projects for the student to use to develop their skills learning food photography. I appreciate the fact that all through the 234 page book there are excellent photographs to illustrate what she is describing. Of course, this book is a very fine resource for an individual who wants to take close-up and macro photography. Speaking of macro photography, you will also want to purchase the RockyNook book: The Complete Guide to Macro and Close-Up Photography by Cyril Harnischmacher. 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Fantastic! By Angelina in cucina I was expecting this book to be published since a long time, as I'm a food blogger too and I'm in love with Corinna pictures. Other than an amazing person, she wrote this fantastic book that I loved a lot! I'm certainly suggesting to buy it if you are a food photography addicted. Well done Corinna!
