The small format is great for children, but anyone who loves animals will treasure this book. Short but pithy text units are packed with information: river otter pups don't know how to swim and must be taught by mom; an African painted dog mom can give birth to up to nineteen pups; orangutan moms don't have a first baby until they are fifteen and then nurse the youngster for four years. A powerful conservation message underlies fun facts about everything from beluga whales to stick insects. It's hard to pick a favorite animal, but personally I'd go with the puggle.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Four StarsBy Kindle CustomerExcellent book - would be a 5 except pages do not rotate on my Kindle Fire.Would be more easily read and enjoyed if it would rotate.

An adorable installment in the ZooBorns series, ZooBorns Motherly Love celebrates the special bond between exotic animal mothers and their babies from every corner of the globe: "Animal babies make conservation cute," raves The New York Times. ZooBorns Motherly Love is all about mothers and their babies. Photographs that capture the power of a mother's love consistently attract explosive interest on the wildly popular ZooBorns website, and now, for the first time, they have been collected in this book. ZooBorns Motherly Love explores the special role mothers play in our lives: they do more for us than they do for themselves, worry about us more than we'll ever know, and love us more than anyone else can...no matter their species. By highlighting these adorable and recognizable moments, from a sea otter cradling her newborn pup to a lioness gently tugging her cub back to her side, ZooBorns connects you to the animals featured here and builds awareness for the challenges these species face in the wild. Remember, these babies are much more than just irresistible furry faces. They are ambassadors for their species, helping educate about conservation while they entertain. In fact, 10 percent of all ZooBorns' revenue from the sale of these books goes directly to the Association of Zoos and Aquariums' Conservation Endowment Fund. This book is sure to put a smile on your face and warm your heart.

"These are hands down the cutest books ever to grace my shelf. For those who need a surge of oxytocin, it's impossible to pick up either one without smiling ear to ear." (DiscoverMagazine.com on Zooborns!) "If a picture is worth 1,000 words, then these stunning photographs starring precious animal tykes may be priceless. The range of real-life infants featured is extraordinary in its breadth, covering such unusual zoo or aquarium residents as the crowned sifaka and the tawny frogmouth. The captivating, clear photographs pose every cub, kit and so on at its most adorable." (Kirkus on Zooborns) "Agonizingly adorable photographs of newborn animals steal the spotlight in this introduction to a baby fox, hyena, tiger, mongoose, and more.." (Publishers Weekly on Zooborns) "Cutest Book Ever!" (Wired.com on Zooborns) "Animal Babies Make Conservation Cute." (The New York Times on Zooborns) "ZooBorns pulls off the difficult task of being cute and interesting for people of all ages while also being informative. Many books seek this lofty goal but most fail." (Seattle Post Intelligencer on ZooBorns) About the Author Andrew Bleiman is a lifelong animal nerd who graduated from the University of Pennsylvania with a degree in English Literature and a yet to be recognized minor in Baby Animalogy. He attributes his fascination with zoology and conservation to monthly childhood trips to the Wildlife Conservation Society's Bronx Zoo. He lives in Seattle with his wife, Lillian, and daughter, Avery
